VV=hcre a witness is rendered incompetent under section 486, such incompetency only extends to, and forbids his testifying for the purpose of, proving a transaction with or statement by the testator or intestate, as the basis of a claim for or against some party claiming under deceased; that evidence of statements made by deceased, when they amount to verbal acts, may be received upon the question of the testamentary capacity of deceased. Of course, when permitting such evidence to go before a jury, it should be fully instructed as to the purpose for which it is to be received—that it is not a question of the truthfulness of the statement that they are to determine, but whether the statement was made and, if made, its probative force upon the question of testamentary capacity. When we consider...
