Even for the factories where time rates predominate, the presentation of rates is made difficult because of the frequent changes during the period under consideration. Many of the women for whom records were secured had three or more different rates during this time. For this reason the rates that predominated in each employee's working period are presented. In the two smallest factories, Nos. 6 and 7, all of the employees were on time rates. And in one of the medium-sized factories, No. 5, a majority of the employees were paid a weekly wage. Predominating rates for time workers in these firms are shown in Table 4. The general trend of rate increases in these establishments during the period covered in the investigation is shown in Table 5. From this it appears that the proportion of workers with rates of $9 and under $12 a week had advanced from 25.8 per cent. in June to 40.9 per cent. in September. A comparison of predominating rates for establishments Nos. 5, 6, and 7 with the rates for the same firms in 1913 (Table 6) shows that at that time the proportion with rates under $9 was 100, 83.3, and 100 per cent., respectively; while the corresponding percentages for 1918 are 54.8, 85.4, and 73.5 per cent. In the present study no employees appear in the lowest classes, those with rates of under $5 weekly. The proportion of workers in...
