Excerpt: .If tartar emetic, taken into the stomach, causes vomiting, causes the stomach to empty itself, then, if there is any thing in the stomach which we want out of it, it is a very natural conclusion that tartar emetic is good for making the stomach stand and deliver. It came by degrees to be noticed that opium caused sleepiness if swallowed; a million times opium was swallowed, and a million times were the recipients made sleepy; hence the very natural inference that opium was good for putting a man to sleep; and when men want to go to sleep, they know that they can do so if they swallow a little opium. Hence the various things which are used for remedies in disease have come by degrees into use--some by accident, others by induction, and all more or less relied upon. The general idea of medicine is, then, that it is some thing which will remove some disagreeable sensation, some symptom of disease. It is, then, fair to infer that whatever uniformly removes a symptom is a medicine. If a man is as blue as indigo, in reference to depression of spirits caused by the want of a dollar to buy him a dinner, give him a ten dollar bill, and he will be one of the happiest of mortals--until the ten is gone; a million times give a ten, and a million times will he brighten up most amazingly, and naturally we begin...
